INTENDED TO KILL DR. SMYTH.

ONE OF THE NEW-HAVEN MINISTER'S PARISHIONERS ARRESTED.

New-Haven, Conn., May 15 .- W. R. Clinton, of West Haven, was arrested to-day by Police Captain Cowles, because of a threat of assassination which Clinton sent by mail this afternoon to the Rev. Dr. Newman Smyth, pastor of Center Church, the most ancient and aristocratic of New-Haven's churches, and of which Clinton is a member. He was arrested just as he was leaving his home to carry his threat into execution, and two heavily loaded revolvers were found on him.

Clinton has the hallucination that Dr. Smyth has cheated him out of $12,000, by securing patent rights on a machine of his invention. He has written several letters to the clergyman asking him to return the $12,000, which were unnoticed, and within the last few days the letters bacame so frequent and threatening that Dr. Smyth became alarmed, and reported the matter to the police this afternoon. Soon afterward he received a special delivery letter from Clinton saying that unless the money was forthcoming inside of an hour and a half he would assassinate him.

When arrested, Clinton admitted that he was going to carry out his purpose if he did not get his money. He will be examined as to his sanity

A SHAKESPEARE GARDEN PARTY.

AN ENTERTAINMENT AT LAWRENCE PARK UND THE AUSPICES OF THE NEW-YORK KIN-DERGARTEN ASSOCIATION.

Nature put on her freshest spring gown and brightest smile yesterday to welcome the guests of the New-York Kindergarten Association to Law-rence Park, Bronxville. The women of the park arranged an entertainment called a Shakespeare garden party, which was thoroughly enjoyed and was eminently successful in results. The tickets included railway fare and afternoon tea.

At the entrance to the park, on a quaint leaf-shaped table, were three caskets, labelled gold, silver and base currency, presumably resembling those which puzzled Portia's suitors. The rustic gate was covered with wistaria blossoms, and passing up the driveway a water-color sketch of "Fair Rosalind" adorned a maple tree, and numerous hold special services in the First Methodist Episco- | Shakespearlan inscriptions were to be seen here and there among the greer. Sweet strains of music anniversary of the League. Lean Prince will give guided the throng of people to the Gramatan Club house, where the Reception Committee awaited them with a cordial welcome. Rollins, Mrs. Edmund C. Stedman and Mrs. Arthur Wellington.

The tea table was generously supplied, and ten was poured by Mrs. W. H. Howe, Mrs. William H. Low, Mrs. G. Radtke, Mrs. John Bates and Mrs. Lorenzo Hatch. Around the room were many appropriate quotations from the poet, such as "Sit down and feed and welcome to our table," and "No profit grows where is no pleasure taken." The great stone fireplace, filled with dogwood blessoms, bore the fanciful inscription, "Tomb of the Capulets, closed for repairs." The beauty of the scene was enhanced by the picturesque groups of handsomely gowned women who presided over the flower and refreshment tables spread under the great irees.

flower and refreshment tables spread under the great trees.

Not only had neighboring florists contributed roses and pinks, but the fleids and woods had yielded up a profusion of ferns, columbines, wild azaleas, tulips and native violets. A charming group of young and pretty girls, with a background of likes, poured lemonade for their thirsty customers, and a more matronly number presided over the snowy-covered tables where ice-cream was served.

One of the most enjoyable features of the occasion was the hospitality of the resident artists who opened their studios for inspection. These were W. H. Howe, Otto H. Bacher, William H. Low, W. H. Foote and Lorenzo Hatch. Edmund C. Stedman cordially invited the guests to his beautiful home. Mrs. Custer also entertained many friends at her attractive cottage.

THE BIG STORE

Our Second Semi-Annual

Muslin Underwear Sale

has received an ovation indeed from the lovers of economy in New York City.

The ability to make great sales is one of the distinctive features that belongs to "The Big Store." Sales that are great, not only in name, in quantity of goods offered, in crowds attending, but also great in that most important feature, of actual money saving benefit to the people. This has been demonstrated thoroughly during the past three days in this Muslin Underwear Sale.

Those who purchased a 29c, or a 39c, Night Gown realize what "The Big Store" is doing for New York when they compare them with the 49c. and 59c. Gowns offered in other stores and find our garments superior. Those who bought the 18c. Chemises that would have cost them 25c. and 35c. elsewhere; those who bought the 12c. Drawers, that would have cost them 25c. elsewhere; those who bought 39c. Skirts and found them equal to the regular 59c. garments need no further argument to prove the truth of our motto: "Better Goods for Less Money than any other House in America." The coming week will be one of exceptional interest in the great Muslin Underwear Sale and in many other stocks. DURING THIS SALE WE CANNOT FILL MAIL ORDERS ON MUSLIN UNDERWEAR.

He called in Policeman Frederick Kotterman, and an ambulaice was summoned. The man was George Seidl, and the woman was his common-law wife, Bridget Crimmins. They had rented the room in which they were found dead from the landlady, Mrs. Hunt, four weeks ago, and had given the name of Reinhart. The pair quarrelled frequently, and the man was apparently out of work. On a rickety table near the bed was found a sheet of paper, on which were scrawled three notes in German, one of which asked Mrs. James O'Connor, of No. 1.214 Secondave., to care for her sister's body and the child. The woman was seen alive for the last time on Friday, when Mrs. Hunt heard her crying. She went upstairs and found her lying on the floor, clasping her breast, and weeping bitteriy. She said that Seidi had beaten her.

The surgeon found traces of poison on the worman's lips and said the man had probably forced her to take poison before the shooting. The police sent word to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children to care for the body. The bodies of the man and woman will probably be buried in Potter's Field. Mrs. O'Connor refused to go to see the body of her sister, declaring that she had separated from the dead woman two years ago, because the Crimmins woman was addicted to drink.

st. Just as Mr. Parish was passing, at about 6 o'clock, a whistle on one of the steam drilling machines was blown. Mr. Parish's horse became much frightened and reared. The animal stood on its hind legs for several seconds, directly in front of a horse and carriage driven by Mr. Mulier, who was also on his way downtown. He tried to pull up his horse when he saw Mr. Parish's horse rear, but he was too near the frightened animal to get clear. The frantic horse, in bringing its forelegs to the ground, struck Mr. Muller in the face. He wears glasses, and these were broken in fragments by the animal's hoofs. A piece of the glass was driven into Mr. Muller's right cheek, and some of the flesh was scraped from his chin by the horse's hoof as it slid down his face.

When the horse got its feet on the ground Mr. Parish was powerless to hold it. The animal dashed down the avenue with the bit between its teeth, keeping a straight course. Policeman Hunt, of the Highbridge station, one of the mounted squad, saw the runaway and gave chase. His horse was fleet and caught up with Mr. Parish's at One-hundred-and-thirty-eighth-st. It was not injured by the run and was soon quieted by Mr. Parish, who was not hurt.

Mr. Muller drove to Breen's drugstore, a few blocks away, and there had his injuries dressed by Dr. Shaw, of No. 160 West One-hundred-and-thirty-tieth-st. The piece of glass, which had been driven into his cheek, was extracted and he drove to his home.

Mr. Parish is a member of the Adirondack League and the Alpha Delta Phi Club. His father Henry Parish, is the president of the New-York Life Insurance and Trust Company, at No. 52 Wall-st.

LOIE FULLER BACK FROM CUBA.

SHE SAYS WEYLER IS A COWARD AND TELLS HOW SHE GOT PAID IN CHEAP

Miss Loie Fuller, the dancer, returned to this city yesterday, after winning fresh laurels in new fields. She came from the troubled island of Cuba on the steamship Valencia, and was frightfully seasick on the voyage. She acknowledges herself a poor sailor, and it was dread of a three weeks' ocean trip to China that prevented her from going to the Orient and sent her to entertain the Mexican and Cuban capitals.

After landing yesterday she held an informal eception and related many interesting and sadly instructive stories regarding the conditions in Cuba. She boiled with indignation as she dwelt upon the acts of barbaric cruelty which she said she had seen practised upon the Cubans by the prison, where she was locked up because she would not accept the advances of a Spanish officer. Her brother and her mother were imprisoned, too. ases of captured Cuban girls being sold like slaves have heard from absolutely authoritative sources of cases of captured Cuban girls being sold like slaves from a block at public auction.

"Then there is that Weyler! If ever a Marat need a Charlotte Corday, that is the man. Do you know the way that man fights?" and here Miss Fuller became more excited. "If he sees the enemy ahead of his column he rides at the rear; if he enters a town where there are no insurgents to oppose him he rides at the head, with bands playing. He never wears his own uniform in the field. He hides his hideous little body in some under officer's uniform, so that he won't be a mark for the insurgent sharpshooters."

Mr. Stevens, her agent, was standing by, and remarked, "You'll never go starring in Spain if that gets printed."

"Well, what of it?" was the reply "the United States is big enough for me. Nor do I want to go to Spain after I have seen the way the Spaniards have acted in Cuba. Everywhere I went—Clentuegos Santiago de Cuba, Havana—there was the same utter wretchedness of the Cubans. I can't make any one believe the horror of the thing.

"I played to good houses there and in Mexico. Weyler's staff came to see me, but not Weyler himself. But how do you think I got buncoed down there? When I arrived there a month ago a Spanish dollar was worth $7 cents. Before I had been there a week it had dropped to 79 cents, then to 69 cents and to 50 cents, and before I left I had to exchange all my hard-earned Spanish dollars for 47 cents apiece.

"I want to speak a word of highest praise for Consul-General Lee. No man could have done more for Americans on the Island than he has done."

Miss Fuller has an engagement for October 1 in Paris, where she will bring out some new pantomime dances.
